

EMINENT FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

They will help to make the finest sporting page yet published. You will find it in - The Sunday - World.

BROOKLYN EDITION

Color.

THE DRAMA IN NEW YORK.

Some novel and eccentric features of it will be dealt with in - Next - Sunday's - World.

PRICE ONE CENT.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1892.

PRICE ONE CENT.

LAST EDITION.

MAKING UP SLATES.

Politicians Speculating on President Cleveland's Appointments.

Mayor Grant, Too, Can Dispose of Several Choice Plums.

Police Justices and Some Big Commissioners to Be Filled.

The politicians' chief topic of discussion now is, who are going to get the offices? Ex-Secretary Whitney, it is universally conceded, can have anything at President Cleveland's disposal that he wants, either a cabinet position or the mission to the court of St. James. He is reported to have said that he does not want the worry and responsibility of public office again, but if he enters the cabinet as at all, it is believed, it is to carry out his universally favored plan of rebuilding the navy, the consummation of which Mr. Whitney devoutly wishes for.

It is the general opinion in this city that the new administration will not take long to begin housecleaning after taking possession of the Government, since the Democrats are going to be solely responsible for the conduct of the nation's affairs, it is the opinion of Democratic politicians that good Democrats should be appointed as soon as possible to take the places of the Republicans in office.

The principal Federal officers to be appointed here are collector of the Port, Naval Officer, United States Marshal, United States District Attorney, Postmaster, two Internal Revenue Collectors, Pension Agent and several other important officers in the Custom-house, Appraisers' Stores and Immigration Department.

Mayor Grant also has a half dozen or more desirable offices to fill before he retires. Talk has been revived that he will appoint two commissioners of Record, provided for by an act of the late Legislature, these commissioners, with the Register of Deeds, are to form a board for the purpose of reorganizing the records in the Recorder's office on the block system.

A report is current that Mayor Grant will exercise his discretion and create the Commission of Public Works, and that he will appoint George W. B. Smith, Jr., as its head, a clerk, as one of the commissioners. The name of Charles W. Dayton is mentioned for the other place.

There is also much speculation as to whether Mayor Grant will name his successors as Mayor-elect, or as Commissioner of Public Works and County Clerk. Purdy as President of the Fire Commission.

Mr. Purdy's term as Commissioner does not expire until May 1, 1893. As the next Mayor would have had the appointment of his successors under other circumstances, it is contended that Mayor Grant should leave to Mr. Purdy the naming of his own successor and Mr. Purdy's.

In the gossip going the rounds there is a story to the effect that Mayor Grant will want a re-nomination, and because he did not get it he may not consult the organization in the appointment of his successors. It is also stated that Mr. Grant will not be re-nominated, and that he will not be re-nominated.

Mr. Grant's term as Mayor-elect will not be ended until Jan. 6, 1893. Justices of the Peace will be appointed at the same time by Mayor Edson to take the places of two holdovers. The question to be decided under their appointment dates from the day they took office or when the term of the holdovers expired, which was Nov. 1, 1892.

Mr. Grant's term as Mayor-elect will not be ended until Jan. 6, 1893. Justices of the Peace will be appointed at the same time by Mayor Edson to take the places of two holdovers. The question to be decided under their appointment dates from the day they took office or when the term of the holdovers expired, which was Nov. 1, 1892.

Mr. Grant's term as Mayor-elect will not be ended until Jan. 6, 1893. Justices of the Peace will be appointed at the same time by Mayor Edson to take the places of two holdovers. The question to be decided under their appointment dates from the day they took office or when the term of the holdovers expired, which was Nov. 1, 1892.

Mr. Grant's term as Mayor-elect will not be ended until Jan. 6, 1893. Justices of the Peace will be appointed at the same time by Mayor Edson to take the places of two holdovers. The question to be decided under their appointment dates from the day they took office or when the term of the holdovers expired, which was Nov. 1, 1892.

Mr. Grant's term as Mayor-elect will not be ended until Jan. 6, 1893. Justices of the Peace will be appointed at the same time by Mayor Edson to take the places of two holdovers. The question to be decided under their appointment dates from the day they took office or when the term of the holdovers expired, which was Nov. 1, 1892.

Mr. Grant's term as Mayor-elect will not be ended until Jan. 6, 1893. Justices of the Peace will be appointed at the same time by Mayor Edson to take the places of two holdovers. The question to be decided under their appointment dates from the day they took office or when the term of the holdovers expired, which was Nov. 1, 1892.

Mr. Grant's term as Mayor-elect will not be ended until Jan. 6, 1893. Justices of the Peace will be appointed at the same time by Mayor Edson to take the places of two holdovers. The question to be decided under their appointment dates from the day they took office or when the term of the holdovers expired, which was Nov. 1, 1892.

Mr. Grant's term as Mayor-elect will not be ended until Jan. 6, 1893. Justices of the Peace will be appointed at the same time by Mayor Edson to take the places of two holdovers. The question to be decided under their appointment dates from the day they took office or when the term of the holdovers expired, which was Nov. 1, 1892.

Mr. Grant's term as Mayor-elect will not be ended until Jan. 6, 1893. Justices of the Peace will be appointed at the same time by Mayor Edson to take the places of two holdovers. The question to be decided under their appointment dates from the day they took office or when the term of the holdovers expired, which was Nov. 1, 1892.

Mr. Grant's term as Mayor-elect will not be ended until Jan. 6, 1893. Justices of the Peace will be appointed at the same time by Mayor Edson to take the places of two holdovers. The question to be decided under their appointment dates from the day they took office or when the term of the holdovers expired, which was Nov. 1, 1892.

Mr. Grant's term as Mayor-elect will not be ended until Jan. 6, 1893. Justices of the Peace will be appointed at the same time by Mayor Edson to take the places of two holdovers. The question to be decided under their appointment dates from the day they took office or when the term of the holdovers expired, which was Nov. 1, 1892.

Mr. Grant's term as Mayor-elect will not be ended until Jan. 6, 1893. Justices of the Peace will be appointed at the same time by Mayor Edson to take the places of two holdovers. The question to be decided under their appointment dates from the day they took office or when the term of the holdovers expired, which was Nov. 1, 1892.

CLEVELAND AND "THE WORLD."

The President-Elect Appreciates the Work that Elected Him.

He Thinks the Democratic Campaign Was Splendidly Managed.

President-elect Grover Cleveland, at his home, 1 West Fifty-first street, this morning consented to give audience to a reporter for THE EVENING WORLD.

Mr. Cleveland expressed himself as being greatly gratified at the result of the election, and altogether very much encouraged at the prospect of the Democratic party coming into complete control of the Government.

"What share of the Democratic ticket's success do you ascribe to the efforts of THE WORLD?" asked a gentleman who was present.

Mr. Cleveland's answer was: "Well, I shouldn't like to speak of that now, but I have no doubt that THE WORLD did very service, and has merited high commendation from all of us."

"I've been very busy to-day receiving visitors, among whom were John D. Crimmins, Senator Arthur H. Gorman, of Maryland, Orlando B. Potter, Judge Corcoran, John Milburn, Jr., J. K. Thompson, John D. Curran and Mr. Collins."

Mr. Cleveland received THE EVENING WORLD representative very cordially and intimately, in reply to questions, that he was highly pleased at the manner in which the Democratic campaign had been managed in all parts of the country, and especially in New York, his home.

Mrs. Cleveland and Baby Ruth seemed to be as happy as the head of the family, judging from the sounds of merriment which floated to the reporter's ears from an adjoining apartment.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

Mr. Cleveland appeared to be in perfect physical health. He looked hale and hearty, his eyes sparkled as he commended the work of the Democratic campaign managers, and of the efforts of the others who assisted in rolling up the unprecedented majority for the ticket.

SHE SOLD FOR $500.

The Pious Lawrence Says He Paid for Ivy Roche.

Mrs. Leck, the Alleged Procures, Held for Examination.

Agent Schultes Says There Are Many Complaints Against Her.

Another feature in the case of Ivy Roche, the fifteen-year-old girl who, it is alleged, was abducted and criminally assaulted Oct. 12 by Henry Lawrence, a Yonkers business man, was brought out this morning in Jefferson Market Court.

When the case was called on, it was found that the girl had been sold for $500 to a man named Lawrence, who was charged with the abduction and assault.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

Mr. Lawrence's defense was that he had paid for the girl, and that he had no knowledge of her previous history.

ORDEAL NEAR AN END.

Summing Up for the People Begun.

The Case Will Probably Go to the Jury To-Day.

Appearance of the Accused Roundsmen in the Recorder's Court.

When Roundsmen Matthew P. Daley came down from the Tombs this morning, to appear in his present trial on the charge of criminally assaulting Mamie Hannah in the back room of Joe Deiler's saloon at Pitt and Broome streets, the night of March 26, last, he evidently realized that his fate was hanging in the balance.

An related in THE EVENING WORLD'S Sporting Extra last night, the evidence on both sides was all in, and his counsel, Lawyer Frederick H. House, had begun the summing up for the defense.

Mr. House's associates, Emanuel M. Friend and Robert A. Ammon also were serious countenances when they entered the courtroom, as became the importance of the occasion.

It was noticeable yesterday that Lawyer House devoted most of his energies to attacking the character of the complainant, Mamie Hannah, and the other witnesses for the prosecution, while the alibi he attempted to prove for Daley was touched upon very lightly.

It was just 11:10 o'clock when Recorder Smith opened court this morning and Lawyer House resumed his summing up. He insisted that Daley had been in the saloon between 8 and 9 o'clock on the night in question, and that he was the person who assaulted Mamie Hannah.

It was the general opinion of those present between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock that Daley had not been established satisfactorily except by his own testimony.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

Mr. House frequently declared that Sergeant McDonald was not on trial, yet he devoted considerable time to showing that he was not a reliable witness.

HE IS NOT AN ASPIRANT.

Not Held Responsible by the Police for the Collapse.

May Also Absorb the Hammond Company with $1,240,000.

Not Held Responsible by the Police for the Collapse.

Thomas Webster, who, as owner and builder, was held responsible for yesterday's collapse of the buildings at One Hundred and Forty-second street and Amsterdam avenue, was this morning discharged in the Harlem Police Court.

Justice Voorhis found that the result of the police investigation of the disaster agreed with Mr. Webster's explanation and that of his foreman, Pierce O'Connell.

Webster said that the buildings had been constructed in accordance with the plans and specifications approved by the Building Bureau.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

The workmen were preparing the bottom of the cellar for a layer of cement. They had just poured the concrete when the disaster occurred.

LIEUT.-GOV. SHEEHAN—Would you mind moving up a seat?

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

GOV. FLOWER—Thank you, William, but I prefer staying just where I am.

SUICIDE ON POST.

Policeman Coleman Shoots Himself on Seventh Avenue.

Found Lying on the Sidewalk with a Bullet in His Head.

He Feared a Charge of Neglecting His Duty.

Policeman Isaac D. Coleman, of the West Thirtieth street station, committed suicide while on post on Seventh avenue between Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth streets about 5:30 o'clock this morning by shooting himself behind the right ear with a revolver.

Why the unfortunate man took his life is not definitely known, but it is believed to have been the result of a long sickness and the belief that his position was jeopardized by reason of the discovery by his roundsmen that he had absented himself from his post nearly an hour.

Coleman was twenty-seven years old, married, and lived with his wife on the top floor of the apartment-house at 424 Amsterdam avenue.

With his brother officers of the midnight squad he was aroused shortly before 12 o'clock and went out to patrol his post until 6 o'clock this morning.

Roundsmen Shields, of the night patrol in the upper end of the precinct, on his rounds at 11:30 o'clock, saw Coleman at 424 Amsterdam avenue, but failed to find any trace of Coleman.

It seemed rather strange to Shields that the man had absented himself and after spending nearly an hour in waiting for the roundsmen, Shields moved over to Broadway. He walked back to Seventh avenue after a lapse of a few minutes, and between Thirty-ninth and Forty-first streets he met Coleman.